New President elected for the 2023-2026 mandate

The European Federation of Engineering Consultancy Associations (EFCA) is thrilled to announce the election of Inés Ferguson, Director of Business Development at TYP SA, as the new President. The election took place during the 2023 General Assembly Meeting held on 01 June 2023.

Inés Ferguson succeeds Benoît Clocheret, CEO of Artelia, who has successfully served his term as President and guided the organisation and its members through challenging times, including the Covid pandemic and the conflict in Ukraine. EFCA expresses its gratitude to Benoît for his remarkable work and dedication to the organisation.

With a wealth of experience, Inés Ferguson brings a robust background to her new position, having previously served as the Chair of the EFCA European External Action Committee for several years. Her extensive knowledge and expertise position her well to lead the federation towards new achievements and advancements. Inés is committed to fostering and strengthening partnerships with Multilateral Development Banks, FIDIC, its regions, and other relevant organisations, envisioning a future of collaboration for mutual benefit and the overall advancement of the engineering industry.

In her statement following her election, Inés Ferguson emphasised the critical moment EFCA finds itself in, being actively involved in shaping EU policies that drive the green and digital transitions, as well as providing assistance for the reconstruction of Ukraine: “Europe is leading an ambitious green and digital transformation and has a major role in rebuilding Ukraine, which is critical for our future. EFCA will make sure that consulting engineers are part of the solutions to these great challenges.”

Inés Ferguson's appointment as the first female President of EFCA highlights her commitment to diversity and inclusion within the organisation. Her leadership will undoubtedly serve as an inspiration to aspiring professionals in the field.

EFCA extends its warmest congratulations to Inés Ferguson on her election as President and looks forward to a successful and fruitful tenure under her leadership.
